HAUSER TELLS GROWERS FRUIT JUICE DEMAND WILL INCREASE

The demand for fruit juices, and particularly for tomato juice, will increase during the coming year, John A. Hauser, president of the C. H. Musselman company told 400 farmers gathered Friday night at the company's cafeteria in Biglerville for the annual tomato growers banquet.

Demands for canned fruit juices by the military will be high as will be civilian demand, President Hauser said. The army is asking for more canned fruit juices, particularly for use in Korea where water supplies are heavily contaminated, the C. H. Musselman company president said the canners had been told by the army's quartermaster corps.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture, he added, is asking a 35 per cent increase in tomato acreage in Pennsylvania, from 20,200 acres to 27,200 acres.

The annual awards made by the company went to the GMW orchards, Gardners, first place in quantity with 20.8 tons per acre, second in quantity to Lloyd Hain, New Freedom, 19.06 tons per acre; first in quality to Thomas Hamberger, Dallastown, with 84 per cent U. S. No. 1; second in quality, Harold Fitz, York R. 2, 81 per cent No. 1. The first prizes were $35 and the second prizes $20 each.

P. A. Lerew and Sons, York Springs, were presented with ten ton certificates for a production of 13.12 tons per acre of which 66 per cent were No. 1 tomatoes. A number of York county growers of the Musselman company also received ten-ton certificates.

Attorney Edward B. Bulleit acted as moderator for a panel discussion on tomato growing problems. Members of the panel included: J. O. Dutt, Dr. R. S. Kirby and John Pepper, of State College; E. R. Phil of the Federal-State Inspection service; County Agent M. T. Hartman; Frederic E. Griest, Flora Dale; A. Dale Knouse, Biglerville R. D.; Emory Shaul, Peltion; Harold Perry, York R. D.; President Hauser and Donald Horst, chairman of the C. H. Musselman company.

Favor Present Agreements

That the tomato growers present like to sell their product to the C. H. Musselman company and need no written contracts from the company was made evident in the answers given not only by the panel members, but by growers in the audience to a question on whether the Biglerville processing plant should continue buying on oral contracts, or should use written contracts or buy on the open market. Griest said that he was satisfied with oral contracts, and thought written contracts "foolish." A. Dale Knouse said he felt the same way. Several other growers expressed their approval of oral contracts.

A report on the cost of growing plants revealed that the company lost approximately $17,000 on this project last year. The company produced three million tomato plants at a cost of $29,000 and sold them to the farmers for $12,304.

Pennsylvania growers produce more tomatoes per acre and receive a higher income per acre than their fellow growers in the U.S. according to charts presented by Horst.

The charts covering the ten years from 1940 through 1950 show that Pennsylvania growers produced more tomatoes each year, with the exception of three, than the average for the U.S., and that Musselman company growers in nearly all of the years outproduced the average for the state, with the exception of last year.

This is the way the Beard Lot hill, near Fountaindale, appears today, with the beginning of work on the U. S. government project which will make the Liberty township hill a portion of Camp Ritchie. The government has taken possession of 1,200 acres including and surrounding the hill, while the principal work, shown above, has begun near the intersection of the Sabillasville road and Sunshine Trail. Visible to the spectator are only the buildings constructed about 500 yards from the Sabillasville road and about 300 yards from the Sunshine Trail, shown in the picture. An opinion was handed down this morning by the Adams county court in the preliminary objections to the plaintiff's complaint in the action in assumpsit brought by Alfred J. Shillitani, New York city, against Penn Ceramic manufacturing company, Inc., Aspers.

In his opinion Judge W. C. Sheely sustained the objections of the Aspers corporation that the complaint was not specific and gave Shillitani 20 days in which to file a more specific complaint.

Shillitani, according to the opinion, claimed that Penn Ceramic borrowed $1,200 from Shillitani, and presented a check from him to the company for that amount as his proof. The check, the court held, did not show that any loan had occurred, and requested Shillitani to list who made the loan for the company and the circumstances surrounding the loan.

AGED FARMER ENDS HIS LIFE

A 71-year-old farmer, believed despondent over the sale of the farm where he lived for 30 years, shot himself Friday with a 22 rifle he had just borrowed from a neighbor.

Charles S. Chronister, of Dillsburg R. 2, died at the Carlisle hospital from a gunshot wound, about 10 minutes after he was brought there. Cumberland County Coroner Edward Haggle gave a verdict of suicide in the death.

Neighbors said the elderly farmer appeared about noon and requested the rifle, ostensibly to shoot hogs he was going to butcher. Walking away, he turned the gun on himself near the highway, they said.

Survivors include two sons, Chester and Ralph, and a daughter, Ruth, at home; a brother, Harvey Chronister of Dover; two sisters, Mrs. Wilson Myers of East Berlin and Mrs. Kimmel of Dover; seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services Wednesday at 2 p.m. at his home. Burial in Dillsburg cemetery. Friends may call at the home Tuesday evening after 7 o'clock.

Littlestown LEGION WOMEN PLAN ACTIVITIES

Community service was the theme of the March meeting of the Ocker-Snyder Post No. 321 American Legion Auxiliary on Wednesday evening at the post home. Mrs. James W. Fager, president, who presided over the meeting, reported on the community projects of the auxiliary, which includes the loan of two hospital beds and one polio pack. Reports were given by the secretary, Mrs. Robert B. Warehime, and treasurer, Mrs. Ivan Rickrode. The auxiliary served as a book committee for the Infantile Paralysis drive by distributing the books throughout the community. Contributions were voted to the Cancer fund, the Red Cross drive and the Adams County Crippled Children's society.

Plans were discussed for a food sale to be held after Easter for the benefit of the Littlestown high school band uniform fund. Miss Edna Blocher reported for the sick committee. A pair of baby shoes was given to each new baby of auxiliary members. The organization will assist in the sale of special books to help with the project of raising $1,000 for each Veterans' hospital in the state. The auxiliary received an invitation from the governor's committee to attend the Pennsylvania mid-century White House conference for youth and children, at Harrisburg.

JURIST TELLS HOW COURT IS OPERATED HERE

The workings of the Adams county court were explained by Judge W. C. Sheely Friday evening at a meeting held by the Gettysburg Women's Civic Council at the court house.

Mrs. Forrest Craver, vice president of the council, presided at the program arranged by a committee including Mrs. Grover Ridler, Mrs. Louise Stanton and Miss Martha Strausbaugh.

Judge Sheely, introduced by Mrs. Ridler, explained that his work as a judge at actual court trials is "the easiest part of my duties."

He outlined the great amount of preliminary work that must go into court cases and explained the new "pre-trial conference" program adopted sometime ago by the Adams county court.

Saves Time, Expense

Under the pre-trial conference plan the attorneys in forthcoming cases meet with the judge about two weeks before a case is scheduled to come to trial. Many times, he said, such things as bills for garages, doctors, surveys, photographers and the like can be agreed upon to be submitted to the jury without need of having witnesses prove them from the stand. In that manner, he added, much time can be saved in the actual trial. In addition, he added, the pre-trial conference often leads to settling of cases before they are tried, thus saving expenses and jury time.

The local jurist explained the procedure for selection of juries and answered a number of questions from the floor concerning jury duty.

Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler, president of the Civic Council, closed the meeting by urging full attendance at the April session when a committee headed by Mrs. John S. Rice will present by-laws for adoption by the council.

Plan Study Groups

She added that at a meeting of the executive committee of the council held this week a letter of appreciation was sent to the town council for erecting traffic lights at West Middle and South Washington streets and for the flasher signals set up at the Carlisle street railroad crossing. Both were projects in which the civic council was interested. She also explained that study groups will be set up on four topics of interest listed from the project votes made by member organizations.

Last year's check list was revised and will be mailed as soon as possible to leaders in order to determine the probable enrollment. Several new chairmen and committees were appointed.

Mrs. Carroll Arter, Littlestown, chairman, presided at the meeting and was assisted by Miss Marian Tupper, former director.

Representatives attending the meeting were: Gettysburg, Miss Tupper, Mrs. William Weaver, Mrs. Raymond Sheely, Mrs. George Burner, Mrs. Lavere Hamme, Mrs. Robert Ditchburn, Mrs. Edith Reinhardt and Mrs. Melba Sease; East Berlin, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Arendt, Mrs. Thompson; Littlestown, Mrs. Arter and Mrs. Eldon Fissel; Upper Adams, Mrs. Bradford and Mrs. Ivan Taylor; Cashtown, Gladys V. Many Observing
St. Patrick's Day

(By The Associated Press)
America, a country built by people from many nations, today honors St. Patrick, the patron saint of Ireland. O'Reilly's, McCarthys, Murphys and the like will step out briskly in parades planned in many cities.

The day gives young and old a chance to brighten up things with the wearin' of the green.

In New York city, an estimated 90,000 persons will march up Fifth avenue—which will sport a green traffic ribbon instead of the usual white one. As city workmen said—well, the street needed a new traffic line, and let's give the marchers something to look at, too.

Among those reviewing the Manhattan parade will be Francis Cardinal Spellman and former New York Mayor William O'Dwyer, now U.S. ambassador to Mexico.

In Erin, N. Y.—near Elmhurst—2,000 Kelly-green envelopes, bearing Irish design, will be mailed by residents to collectors. The envelopes will carry green three-cent stamps (issued recently to commemorate the American Bankers association).

SHARPSVILLE IS DARK HORSE IN PIAA BATTLE

Harrisburg, March 17 (AP)—Sharpsville became the "dark horse" candidate for the PIAA Class A basketball title today after winning an overtime victory in the first regional elimination.

The Blue Devils, who have won only 16 of their 27 games this season, edged out Clearfield's District 9 champions last night at Erie, 46-45.

Sharpsville will be joined tonight by either Allentown or Radnor in the east and Farrell or Somerset in the west in the lineup of regional semi-finals.

Clearfield made a strong rally in the second half after trailing 27-19 at half-time but it fell short of the mark as Sharpsville chalked up its ninth victory in a row.

Big Tussle Tonight
Allentown's District 11 champions or Radnor of District 1 can gain the most in tonight's action. The winner of the Penn. palestra contest will draw a bye into the eastern finals on March 28.

Radnor, with a season's mark of 23-3, will carry the longest winning streak of the Class A contenders—19 straight victories—into its contest with Allentown Canaries, beaten five times in 23 games. However, Allentown set a new PIAA tourney record in its defense of the District 11 title last Wednesday. The Canaries pulverized St. Clair, 103-55.

Radnor employed an all-court press to turn back defending champion Haverford and Pottstown in District 1. That type of play usually is highly effective against a fast-breaking outfit such as Allentown.

Farrell Is Favorite
On the other hand, Farrell is a strong favorite to eliminate Somerset's District 5 representatives. The Steelers defeated Crafton, Ford City and Monessen in their march to the District 7 (WPIAL) title. Only Alliquippa and Johnstown Catholic were able to outscore Farrell in its 26 games this season.

Somerset, with a 20-4 season mark, won the District 5 title on February 16 when the Eagles took their second decision over Bedford, the district's only other Class A contender.

Meanwhile, last night's action also completed the list of district champions.

Chambersburg Wins
Chambersburg won the Class A title of District 3 by overpowering Wilson of West Lawn, 57-36, as Wilson's offense fell apart in the second half under the once-beaten Trojans' strong defense.

Chambersburg will meet the winner of Monday night's clash between Bloomsburg of District 4 and Swoyersville of District 2 next Wednesday at Hershey in an eastern semi-final.

Johnstown turned back a stubborn band of Lewistown Panthers, 49-43, to cop District 6 honors and the right to meet the Farrell-Somerset survivor next Wednesday at Johnstown.

Clark Summit of District 12 and Kutztown of District 3 moved into the eastern semi-finals of Class B last night. Clark Summit defeated Troy (4), 47-39, and Kutztown, defending state champion, downed Darby (1), 48-43.

Avalon Wins
Clark Summit meets McAdoo (2) Tuesday night while Kutztown draws Hellertown, which defeated Ashland, 44-42, last night for the District 11 title.

A perennial District 7 Class B champion was eliminated last night as Avalon defeated Irwin's western champions of 1950 by a 42-39 count. Avalon meets unbeaten Cresson next Wednesday.

The Class B title was moved back to its original date today—March 30—when plans for the change fell through. The regional finals will be held on March 27.

SEATTLE JOLTS MOUNTAINEER 5 IN SEMI-FINAL

Mt. St. Mary's college was jolted 102-85 by Seattle university in a semi-final game of the National Catholic Invitation Basketball tournament game played Friday evening at Albany, N. Y.

Johnny O'Brien, Seattle forward, shattered the previous tournament individual scoring record by tossing in 45 points on 18 goals and nine fouls. Cosgrove, who tallied 30 points for the Mounts, held the previous mark with 40 points and 16 goals.

The Mountaineers and Seattle were deadlocked six times in the first half which finally ended with the west coast outfit in front 56-42.

During the last half Seattle remained in control throughout.

Whatever hope the Mounts had of pulling the game from the fire faded when Cosgrove fouled out with two minutes to go.

Tonight St. Francis, of Brooklyn, 84-66, victory over Lemoyne, of Syracuse, in another semi-final, clash for the tournament title.

Biglerville Coach Takes New Position

Russell Kane, football and baseball coach at Biglerville high school, has resigned his position to accept the office of manager of the Kookon company, Baltimore, and will assume his new duties on Monday.

Kane succeeded Gene Haas, who was recalled to the armed forces early last fall, as football coach at Biglerville. In addition to his coaching he taught biology and general science.

A substitute will be secured to finish his teaching duties while other members of the athletic coaching staff will continue the coaching for the present.

Mr. Kane's family will continue to reside for the present in Arendtsville.

Two Are Freed On Bribery Charges

Philadelphia, March 17 (AP)—A jury of six men and six women last night acquitted Michael Caserta and Jack Rodgers of charges of attempting to bribe a Philadelphia policeman.

The jury returned its verdict in Judge Louis E. Levithal's court after deliberating more than four hours.

The two men were tried on charges growing out of accusations made by former Patrolman Thomas MacDonald. MacDonald, who is now in the army, said the men offered him money if he would alter a charge of gambling on which he arrested Rodgers last May to a lesser charge of disorderly conduct.

Rodgers, though cleared of the attempted bribery charge, was convicted by the jury on another count, accusing him of being a bookmaker.

Gets Choice Of Fine Or 2,260 Jail Term

Philadelphia, March 17 (AP)—Milton Lehrman, 42, Philadelphia, faces a jail sentence of 2,260 days or a fine of $2,255 for violating the state cigarette tax law.

Magistrate Thomas E. Costello gave Lehrman his choice yesterday after vice squad detectives told the jurist they found 451 cartons of cigarettes, which did not bear Pennsylvania stamps, in his car. Costello based the fine on $5 a carton.

Lehrman said he purchased the cigarettes in Maryland for a friend but declined to name the friend.

BRIGHAM YOUNG AND DAYTON IN NIB TITLE GAME

New York, March 17 (AP)—Brigham Young and Dayton battle tonight for the championship of the National Invitation basketball tournament in a game that promises to be a close battle all the way.

Brigham Young, champion of the Skyline conference, was expected to be favored by about five points, but there is little doubt that Dayton is the sentimental choice.

A turnout of close to 18,000, the largest of the tourney, was expected at Madison Square Garden to see if Brigham Young's poise would suffice to overcome Dayton's fiery team spirit.

The game is the second of a doubleheader. St. John's of Brooklyn and Seton Hall, beaten in Thursday's semi-finals, start the evening's activities at 7:45 p.m. (EST) to determine third place.

Previously little known outside of Ohio, unseeded Dayton has become the Cinderella team of the 1951 tourney. The Flyers' 69 to 62 overtime victory over top-seeded St. John's on Thursday won the admiration of thousands of New Yorkers. They can be expected to cheer for the Ohioans. In addition, several hundred Dayton fans made the trip here to root for their favorites.

Nat Holman, whose CCNY team beat Bradley in last year's final, thinks BYU will win.

"I like the fight of this Dayton team, but I think Brigham Young simply has too much class."

However, Dayton Coach Tom Blackburn is conceding nothing. "We may have to play better than we did against St. John's to win," he said, giving the impression that his boys would do that very thing.

As for BYU, Coach Stanley Watts declared "We have an eye on that grand slam." That means he thinks his team will not only win tonight, but go on and take the NCAA tourney which opens next week.

Training Camp Briefs

Clearwater, Fla., March 17 (AP)—Mike Goliat is warming the heart of Eddie Sawyer, Philadelphia Phillies manager, these days.

Although never considered a powerhouse at the plate, Mike has pounded out 11 hits in 24 times at bat in six exhibition games. The collection includes two homers, a triple and a double.

Goliat connected with three yesterday as the Phils nosed out the Boston Braves 6-5 in 13 Innings. His two-run homer in the eighth was largely responsible for the game's going into extra Innings. He also had a double and a single.

Oakland, Calif., March 17 (AP)—Babe Herman may be asked to return to scouting duties for the Pittsburgh Pirates instead of coaching at first base.

The reason: Bob Clements, western supervisor for the Pirate farm and scouting system, is returning to active duty with the Army Air Corps.

Herman is highly rated by Branch Rickey, new general manager of the Buccos, as a talent hunter.

If Herman stays as coach, the job may be inherited by Howie Haak, Clements' right hand man on the west coast.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 17 (AP)—Manager Jimmy Dykes of the Philadelphia Athletics figures exhibition baseball under the lights here is a flop.

Only 1,248 turned out last night to see a game between the Athletics and the Washington Senators.

The meager crowd was detained three hours and 20 minutes, first by a 36-minute failure of the lighting system, then by a 13-inning affair in which the A's blew a four-run lead before finally redeeming themselves. With one out in the 13th, Barney McCosky hit to right, scoring Elmer Valo from second. The winning score was 6-5.

San Diego, Cal., March 17 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians had trouble with their San Diego farm hands last night. Orestes Minoso, lately of San Diego, hit a homer with the bases loaded in the ninth to put Cleveland ahead, 6 to 5.

But the Padres tied the score in the same inning against Bob Chakales, and it took a homer by Bob Kennedy to fire a rally in the 13th to give the Indians a 10-6 victory.

Los Angeles, March 17 (AP)—Allie Reynolds, New York Yankee World Series star, may be sidelined a few days with a sore elbow.

Reynolds complained yesterday of aches in his right arm. Dr. Sidney Gaylor of the Yanks diagnosed the ailment an inflammation of the right elbow.

Miami, Fla., March 17 (AP)—Eddie Stanky, New York Giants' second baseman, may be out of action for at least ten days. Stanky broke a small bone in his left wrist Thursday. At first it was thought he would be out for around five days but now it appears he will be on the sidelines from ten days to two weeks.

Sand, soda, ash and limestone are the main ingredients of window glass.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, March 17 (AP)—Tonight's basketball duel between Dayton's Monk Meineke and Brigham Young's Mel Hutchins in the NIT final really should be something to see. . . . The experts were raving about Roland Minson after BYU beat Seton Hall the other night but it was high-jumper Hutchins, with his smooth floor work and remarkable timing of defensive moves that caught our inexpert eye. . . . That season of AAU ball obviously didn't hurt Mel. . . . Meineke is a smooth worker too and a real sharpshooter despite the successful St. John's strategy of tying him up and making him foul. . . . A guy who has been watching Dayton all season claims it isn't an aggressive team and plays just well enough to win so you know just how good it is. . . . You can't say Dan Bucceroni didn't have plenty of nerve taking on Irish Bob Murphy (nee Eddie Conarty) on St. Patrick's eve almost within brick-throwing range of the Hell's Kitchen district. . . . Recalls the late battling Siki's famous faux pas, fighting Mike McGuire in Dublin on St. Patrick's Day.

A TO Z
Don Pierce, Kansas U. tub-thumper, searched through his newspaper files and came up with the following list of nicknames which have been applied to six-foot-nine basketball player Clyde Lovellette: The All-American Alp, Altitudinous Asthmatic, Asthmatic Alp, the Campanile of the Courts (Whew!), Cloudburst Clyde, Colossal Clyde, Cumbersome Clyde, Cumulus Clyde, the Fabulous Frenchman, Leaning Tower of Lawrence, Clyde "Mount" Lovellette, The Ramping Redwood, the Superlative Sequoia and the Terre Haute Terror. . . . Offhand we'd say these names are more numerous and more polite than those applied by rival tutors to Clyde's coach, Phog Allen.

WEEK END NOTES
Word from New Hampshire is that a move to fire Steve O'Neil got underway when the Red Sox lost their first two Grapefruit league games, but the fans decided to let him stay until the regular season begins. . . . Annual quote from Notre Dame's Frank Leahy, prior to spring football practice: "We will do our utmost to make a comeback in 1951, but I trust our many and faithful followers will not expect too much." . . . To the cyclone cellars, lads.

LOCAL COUNTRY CLUB JOINS TRI-COUNTY LEAGUE

The Gettysburg Country club will participate in the newly organized Tri-County Golf league which will open the season on April 29 and continue until July 1.

The loop, which will include Gettysburg, Hanover, Waynesboro, Chambersburg and Carlisle country clubs, was organized at a recent meeting of club representatives at the local club. Floyd March, Carlisle club pro, was elected league chairman.

It was decided to stage matches on a home-and-home basis with 28 golfers on each team. Other golfers may play in the matches but only the 28 players selected for inter-club matches will figure in the scoring. Each club, however, will qualify two score or more golfers for its squad in order to have at least 28 players available at all times for match play. The pros of each club may play if they desire.

Winners To Entertain
The club winning the league title will be host to all of the players of the five clubs at a banquet to be held following the close of the season. The winner will be awarded a trophy at the banquet and may hold it one year. A club must win the cup or trophy five times to hold it permanently, it was decided.

The scoring per foursome will be determined by the best ball, which means that a two-player team can score as high as three points toward the total amassed by the club team. Attending the organization meeting were Riley Heckert, Gettysburg pro, Ben Patrak, Harry Kerr and Charles Keith, of Carlisle; Harold Brake, chairman of the Waynesboro club's tournament committee, and Paul McKinsey, Waynesboro pro, and Arthur Edgar, Chambersburg pro.

WOUNDED MINDS

A man or woman wounded in body is easy to detect, but one wounded in mind goes silently his or her way concealing that wound. Sometimes, however, it can be detected by the look of the eye, by the walk, the tilt of the head, or by some spoken word.

Mental wounds heal more slowly than any to the body because they sometimes go so deep that they show in the soul. What are these wounds? They are wounds that result from misjudgment, misunderstanding, injustice, failure and disappointment.

There are remedies for these wounds, however, some of which leave no scars at all. Work is a remedy. Faith is another. So is silent courage reinforced by an inward belief in the final triumph of the spirit. We hold within ourselves the remedies that heal the wounded mind. Shakespeare in his play Julius Caesar, put into one of his characters these words: "The fault, dear Brutus, is not in our stars, but in ourselves, that we are underlings." He might have said that the fault was in ourselves that we are wounded in mind. Perhaps we have a great deal to do with the wounds that come our way.

It may be that many a wound to our mind has been caused by our own thoughtlessness and unkind thrust of word to another. The fact remains that the quicker any wound of mind is healed or obliterated, the happier all concerned will be. Of that simple remedy—work, Dr. William Osler said it was the "true balm of hurt minds, in its presence the heart of the sorrowful is lightened and consoled."

How masterful may be the power within us if we will but use it to the full to give us guidance and leadership! This same mind of ours can be its own physician. But there must be the will and the desire. At best we are frail creatures, but we can will ourselves to forgive and to forget. It has often opened the dark sky to a burst of sunshine! And all wounds of the mind wiped out.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY
The Seventeenth of March again,
And twinkles in the eyes of men;
Banquets and speeches and parades

To prove that memory never fades.
And, best of all to contemplate,
That love is honored more than hate.

St. Patrick, as he vowed he would,
Won gratitude by doing good.
He kept his fellowman in mind;
Was just and merciful and kind.
His Master's teaching he obeyed
And for the souls of men he prayed.

St. Patrick had a gentle heart,
And so this day is set apart
And known as his, and so 'twill be
As long as men have memory.
This day they'll always celebrate,
Since love is honored more than hate.

Thursday night on the Dickinson college court at Carlisle when Gettysburg high's scrappy basketball team put on a dazzling exhibition of long distance shooting to nose out William Penn high, of Harrisburg, 37-34, to win the District 3 championship.

This marks the first time in the history of the Southern Penn Scholastic league that its champion has succeeded in winning the district title. The Maroons will now enter the state district playoffs and will play Mahanoy City on the Palestra court in Philadelphia.

More than 500 fans accompanied the team to Carlisle for the game. From start to finish the game was one of the most exciting local fans can recall. Playing for Gettysburg were Fred Hankey, Davey Plank, Bream, Sam Snyder, Tom Cline, Ray Staley, Ross Sachs, John Witherow and Francis Carter.

Lieut. Guy E. Brown Is Ordered To Active Duty: First Lieutenant Guy E. Brown, of the Officers Reserve Corps, Fairfield R. 1, has been summoned for active duty in the United States Army and will report for a physical examination at the Carlisle barracks on Friday, March 21.

Lieutenant Brown will report for duty at Fort Livingston, Louisiana. Buses Will Take Local Fans To Philadelphia: A fleet of Greyhound buses will be used to transport Gettysburg fans to Philadelphia Tuesday for the inter-district championship basketball game between Gettysburg and Mahanoy City.

The making-up of bus loads has been taken over by Noel Flynn and Kenneth Tawney. The buses will leave Gettysburg at 3:30 p.m. The price per person is $2.55.

High school children formed their own bus loads at school today. The game starts at 8 p.m.

Riding with Russell

Judging by the way the gas gauge drops down it's still true that fuel and a motorist's money are soon parted.

Now Is The Time

The early bird may catch the worm but among other things he is certain to catch a lot of car trouble in the making. This explains why an important phase of the current interest in revamping the annual check-up of the car is appreciation for the fact that a greatly advanced time for overhauling is a smart way to nip ailments in the bud.

Because specialized equipment is needed to service the modern features of our cars it is necessary to consult various specialists. That is one reason for getting started early. Things should be done in logical order, too. For instance, a complete lubrication job should be done before other work is scheduled. This should include wheel bearings, replacement of extreme pressure lubricant in the hypoid rear end (even if the same grade is used all year round), fluid for the shock absorbers, and attention to the spring shackles. Then there should be careful road testing. In this some unexpected conditions may show up, and agreeably enough some of the things that may have been troubling you are likely to disappear. Car exercise is a fair healer.

Seen Through A Hole
Current change in the carburetor design seen on one of the leading makes of cars provides for a fuel sight plug which also serves as a guide to the correct float level. That is, when you unscrew the little plug in the side of the float bowl the fuel level is right if gasoline is seen at the lower level of the threads in the peep hole.

Two of the forward steps in car design this year really are revivals of past glory. One is the new trend in shock absorbers and springs whereby cars are designed to adjust themselves to variations in road conditions. Some cars formerly had adjustable shock absorbers and the use of springs with built-in helpers for rougher going or over-loading were used successfully in former years.

The other interesting revival features self-energizing brakes. In this design the brake shoes do a sort of wedging act against the drum, thus building up more pressure with less effort on the part of the driver. I've always favored the idea, remembering a car on which this plan worked so well. But there are objections. There always are. Even trouble isn't new.

Mechanic Joe Speaking
"When a muffler springs a leak and starts to produce that mild airplane effect you'd naturally assume that its demise will henceforth be a matter of days. However, because the hole is usually on the underside water from condensation then has a chance to escape and the additional destruction of the muffler is thus retarded. A valve to release muffler condensation is one of those little refinements we'll never see as long as grilles and tail lights have top priority on the car makers' attention. This is no reason to lament, however. Just head for a hill frequently and give the car a good workout. This is effective in driving out condensation."

Those Squealing Tires
It isn't necessary that tires squeal to warn that their treads are being punished. For a 90 degrees turn any speed over five to ten miles an hour will wear tires, regardless of squeal. If a turn comes along and you must slow down, try to do this on the straight road before entering the turn. In this way there will be more even wear on the tires, quite aside from the safety factor. Squealing on turns is usually taken to mean that the tires are under-inflated, but often this really is due to overinflation. In all cases it is aggravated by uneven traction.

I often wonder how much car performance is misjudged simply because the speedometer is inaccurate. This works both ways. Sometimes the engine gets a pat on the back when it doesn't deserve this praise, and other times it is suspected of being below par when the speedometer is merely reading too slow. A tipoff is comparison with the performance of other cars. If the speedometer seems to indicate excellent pick-up, but if the car definitely lags behind others of the same vintage, you're not getting the true story. Hills also offer a good spot for such comparison.

Q. What would cause the spark plugs of my car to carbonize so quickly? I have a lot of trouble starting the car. G. N. B.

A. There are plenty of reasons for this, and of course the hard starting is partly due to the fouled plugs. The first thing to consider is the battery which I think you will find is so weak there isn't normal voltage to the plug points.

Pointer On Distributor

Often the distributor will become quite oily from escape of oil and fumes from the crankcase via a worn shaft. This calls for more frequent oil changes and wiping the inside of the distributor cap with a clean cloth moistened with carbon tetrachloride. Then wipe with a dry clean cloth. Give this treatment to the little pigtail wires inside the distributor and also clean the rotor.

Well, they're still working on that old clunking noise which has worried many buyers of one of the most popular makes of cars the last two years. Latest is that the front end of the propeller shaft traps air is it butts against the U-joint of the universals. By relieving this air pressure with the aid of a grease fitting one service expert has been able to get rid of the noise in those cars which have come under his surveillance. It is a most interesting development in the search for the cause of the trouble. Because there have been other solutions my belief is that a very similar noise develops in this car from several causes.

Time For New Fluid

One of the best services to perform on the car if it has been in use for a long time is replacement of the fluid of the lines and brake cylinders. Fluid becomes tacky with long use. Be especially suspicious of this condition of the fluid itself if the brakes are sluggish when the weather is cold and spongy when it's hot. This is the effect with new fluid of poor quality, but it has a way of coming into the picture where the fluid has become old or where too many additions of mongrel fluids have been made.

A. I would change the plugs pronto, because one or two of them may go bad any time and I would not want to be caught with a limping Lena just when I wanted performance. After 10,000 miles the profitable service from a spark plug takes a toboggan slide.

Q. My car is equipped with a vacuum operated, semi-automatic transmission. Recently I notice that the shifting is extremely sluggish. What can be done about this? G. H. Jr.

A. There are several reasons for this condition, but one of the simplest is to check for sticking accelerator pedal linkage.

year when bad weather interfered. In tomato income per acre Pennsylvania growers outlasted their fellow growers in the U.S. during all but one of the past ten years, according to the report. Last year the average income per acre to Pennsylvania tomato growers was more than $229, while the average through the U.S. was about $160.

The charts showed the income from tomatoes and corn during the ten year period, showing a much higher gross income from tomatoes as compared to corn for each year. The figures showed for 1950 an income of $75.07 per acre for corn and $229.32 per acre for tomatoes.

Pay High Prices
A chart of tomato prices comparing U.S., Pennsylvania and Musselman company showed the Biglerville firm to have paid top prices over the past ten years. In 1940 the U.S. average was $11.80 per ton and the Musselman company top price $17 per ton. The 1950 average U.S. price was about $24.98 per ton, Pennsylvania price, $29.40 a ton and the C. H. Musselman company top price $34 a ton. The peak price was paid in 1946 when the Musselman company's top price was $40 a ton and the U.S. average price about $30 a ton.

Other questions answered by the panel ranged from how deep to set tomato plants, to discussions of what types of fertilizer to use and when, and how to improve the color of tomatoes.

There were no answers this year to the annual question concerning prices. President Hauser noted that he expects prices to be good, but could not make any predictions pending decision of the office of price stabilization concerning whether tomato juices and products will be on the controlled list or not.

according to an announcement by manager Guy McGlaughlin. Several pre-season games are being scheduled. Manager McGlaughlin said that ten players have signed up so far and that practices will be held regularly every week on Tuesday and Thursday evenings and on Sunday afternoon beginning April 1. More players are invited to try out for the team.

A one patrol Boy Scout troop was organized at Rocky Ridge recently. Roger Clem was chosen patrol leader; Howard Miller, assistant patrol leader; George Pryor, treasurer. A one den Cub Pack is also being started.

Miss Betty Hollinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hollinger, and Sue Stinson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. O. H. Stinson, have both received special mention for their excellent work as members of the Towson college basketball team this season. Both Miss Stinson and Miss Hollinger are first year students at the college.

RADIO

New York, March 17 (P)—When a one-wheeled cycle bounced off the orchestra leader's head during a network telecast the other day, nobody paid much attention. Such antics are routine on Phil Patton's "Super Circus." (ABC-TV 5 p.m., Sundays.)

The offending performer was a talented orangutan named Herbert, especially proud of his skill on the unicycle. He was wheeling around around the stage when he noticed Musical Supervisor Bruce Chase waving his baton. Herbert was offended. He thought Chase was aping him. He stepped off the cycle, picked it up and let fly at the maestro.

"A little more of this and I'll be ready for a cage myself," says Patton, who has been producing the circus for more than two years.
